Dr. Lovejoy To Lead P.T.A. Discussion

The Parent-Teacher Association of Ceasar Cone School and Porter School (formerly Edgeville) are invited along with any other citizens of the community to attend the meeting of Proximity PTA next Tuesday night at 7:30 at Proximity School.

Dr. Gordon Lovejoy, professor of human relations at Guilford College will lead a panel discussion on "Rearing Children of Good Will." The program has been arranged by Edward Redding, chairman of the committee on parent education.

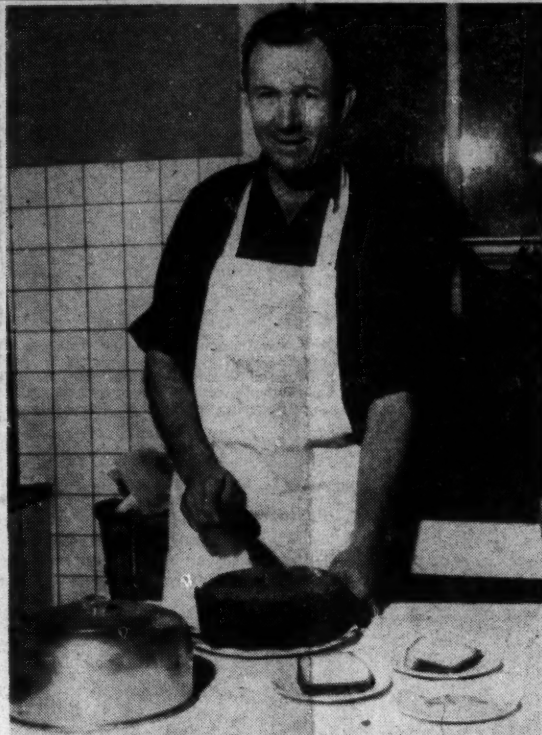

Others to take part on the panel are Rev. J. T. Edwards, pastor of Eller Memorial Baptist Church; and H. M. Angel, secretary of Cone Memorial YMCA, and C. E. Rankin, principal of Proximity School.

"We are very fortunate to have Dr. Lovejoy to conduct this panel discussion," stated Mrs. Merlin Beaver, president of the Proximity PTA. "We hope that all parents in the area will accept our invitation to attend this meeting."

Following the regular business meeting there will be a roll call of member parents.

Rev. W. A. Rich, pastor of Palm Street Christian Church will lead the devotion.

Refreshments will be served in the school cafeteria.

Ben McCullough pursues the culinary art.

Pineville Employee Is Recognized For Cooking

At least one of Cone Mills' male employees is handy around the kitchen, maybe there are more. The Textorian just happened to know about Ben C. McCullough, Spooling Room overseer at Pineville Plant. It all came about through a clipping from the Evening Herald of Rock Hill, S. C., a feature story by Elizabeth Reed of that paper and a photo of Ben in his kitchen.

The article states:

"Ben C. McCullough of Spruce St., Rock Hill, learned to cook when Mrs. McCullough was ill about 12 years ago. He liked cooking so well that he kept on when Mrs. McCullough was well again. His specialties are sweets and meats.

"One of his favorite cakes is an old fashioned plain cake which he makes by using two cups sugar, one cup vegetable shortening, six eggs, a teaspoon of lemon or vanilla flavoring, one teaspoon baking powder, dash of salt, three cups plain sifted flour, and one cup sweet milk.

"He blends the shortening and sugar in an electric mixer, adds the baking powder and mixes, then the flouring and salt. He adds one cup flour, half the milk, another cup of flour, the rest of the milk and the last cup of flour and mixes thoroughly. He bakes the cake in a greased and floured tube pan at 250 degrees about two or two and one half hours.

"McCullough always liked the cakes his grandmother made. When he went to work at Pineville as a foreman in the spool room at Cone Mills, he boarded with Mrs. S. F. Satterfield. He observed that Mrs. Satterfield mixed her plain cake just like his grandmother did. He thinks the fine texture of the cake is the result of the manner in which the cake is mixed and the slow baking.

"A barbecued fresh ham is another delicacy that McCullough prepares. He mixes ketchup, prepared mustard, hot vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, and salt and pepper and bastes with this mixture as the ham bakes in a slow oven.

"Mrs. McCullough works at the Arcade Mill and finds that her husband is a lot of help around the house."

Sen. Scott Wears Cone Corduroy Suit

When United States Senator W. Kerr Scott spoke to the home-county audience at Albemarle Country Club, Burlington on December 15, he was wearing a Cone Corduroy suit and shirt, which was made at Tabardrey Plant and finished at Granite Plant, Haw River.

During his first major address since he entered the Senate late last year, Sen. Scott spoke on national and international topics.

He also explained to the 100 men and women from the Burlington Chamber of Commerce membership that he was proud of his corduroy suit and shirt. He said that his apparel drew considerable inspection and attention when he wore it on a recent Alaskan trip. He took pride, he said, in telling his Alaskan audiences that the material was made in his home town.

Cone Y To Play Spray Y of Leaksville

Saturday night, January 7, the White Oak Acorns of Cone Y will play host to the Spray Y Basketball team on the Proximity Y's court. The game starts at 8 o'clock.

Coach Ted Summers has announced that he will start Archie Wheeler and Cleo Pegram at forwards; Frank Smith at center; Al Smith and John Smith at guards. Players that are expected to see a lot of action are: "Bo" Whitt, "Mike" Claton, and Bill Lewey.

The local team has won two and lost two going into this game.

More Parties Being Planned For Grades

The executive board of Proximity School PTA met last Tuesday night at the school with Mrs. Merlin Beaver presiding.

It was announced that all drives are now ended except the magazine drive.

It was also announced that the seventh, eighth and ninth grade parties were a success and that another is being planned for the near future. These are sponsored by the PTA. Mrs. Charles Jones, Mrs. Winfred Powers and Mrs. Stephen Vaughn were hostesses.

Infant and Pre-School Clinic

White Oak—Revolution—Proximity

(Week of Dec. 28, 1955)

Children present at the Infant and Pre-School Clinic were William Bullard, Susan Pegram, Kathy Self and Garry Lyn Shelton.

Three immunizations were given by the nurses.

Student Night At Local Church

The students of Sixteenth Street Baptist Church presented a student night program last Sunday night, January 1. Nearly 75 students participated in the program.

Carol McAdams, a student at Woman's College, played an organ solo, and Vearle Whittington, also of Woman's College sang a solo. Joyce Owens, of Mars Hill, spoke on the subject, "Why you Should Go to a Christian College." Darrell Moore, of Mars Hill, spoke on the subject, "Our Christian New Year's Resolutions."

The ushers were Joe Hill, Wayne Michael, Jerry Causey, Larry Alberty, and Dean Wilson. Other students from High School and Junior High made the announcements, read the Scriptures, and lead in prayer. All the students from the sixth grade up sang in the choir and presented in song, "Onward Christian Soldiers." The pastor is William L. Bennett.

Dangerous Drivers

Here are some potentially dangerous driver actions to watch for:

1. Excessive speed, especially at night, in bad weather, and in heavy traffic.
2. Passing several cars at once, or on hills, curves and intersections where there is not a clear view ahead.
3. Following too closely.
4. Weaving and sudden lane changing.
5. Sudden stops.
6. Turning from wrong lane.

Fatal Cases

During one month of 1955, 14 fatal injuries in the state were reported to the North Carolina Industrial Commission. The causes of these injuries are:

1. Hopper fell over on employee.
2. Electrocuting.
3. No evidence of injury.
4. Fell from roof.
5. Truck turned over.
6. Killed in process of being robbed.
7. Auto accident.
8. Electrocuting.
9. Train Accident.
10. Train Accident.
11. Lost Control of Plane.
12. Yellow jacket's sting resulted in death.
14. Truck Accident.

There were 11 fatal injuries in N.C. reported during the month of September. The causes of these injuries are:

1. Installing dust work under house.
2. Burned to death.
3. Electrocuting.
4. Burned to death.
5. Auto Accident.

11. Rolling empty wheelbarrow, fell dead.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

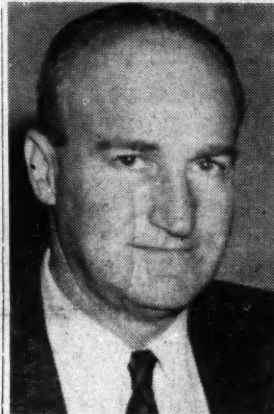

The family of Mrs. Martha Ann Weaver, acknowledge with grateful appreciation the kindness and sympathy shown during her recent illness and death.

So great was the public interest in Thomas A. Edison's invention of the phonograph that in 1877 the Pennsylvania Railroad ran special excursions to his laboratory at Menlo Park, New Jersey.

Drive Safely. The life you save may be your own.

LONG SERVICE—Charlie Phillips is shown at his job in the Picking Department of Cone Mills' Granite Plant, Haw River, where he has been employed continuously for 25 years. His wife is employed at Tabardrey Plant. Mr. Phillips will be among the honored guests at the 25 Year Service Award event on Saturday night, January 14 at Haw River Community Club.

Haw River Service Event To Be Saturday, Jan. 14

The 25-Year Service Award Event for employees of Tabardrey and Granite Plants, Haw River, which was to have been on December 10, will be held on Saturday night, January 14, at 6:30 at Haw River Community Club. The program was postponed on account of the death of Cone Mills Corporation's President Herman Cone.

Sydney M. Cone, Jr., vice president, will be the speaker and will present service pins to nine employees of Granite Plant who have achieved 25 years service since last year's program. P. C. Beatty, manager and superintendent of Granite, will assist.

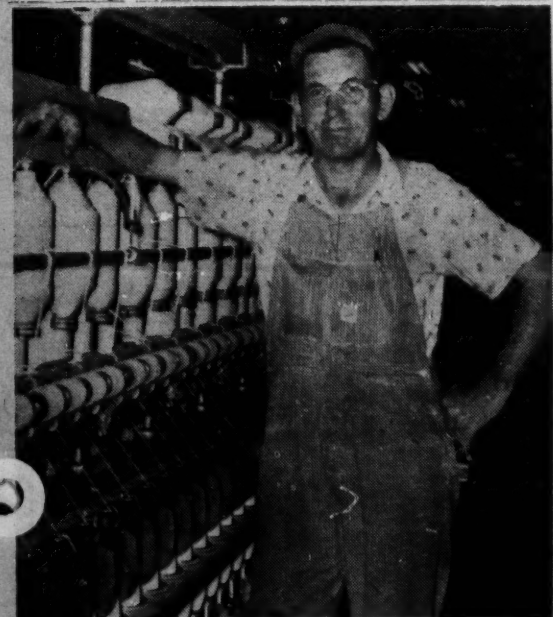

Vice president James Webb will present the service pins to 26 Tabardrey Plant employees who have achieved a quarter of a century service with the past year. R. M. Mitchell, plant superintendent, will assist in these presentations.

The 11 employees who received service pins at last year's program will join these as guests of honor at the dinner meeting.

Entertainment will be by the Haw River High School Glee Club, Mrs. Eugene Watts, director. The Rev. S. H. Roberts, pastor of Haw River Baptist Church, will give the invocation.

This will be the third annual service award program since last October. The first honored employees of six Greensboro plants. The second honored employees of Eno Plant at Hillsboro.

Similar events are being planned for Minneola Plant, Gibsonville, and Salisbury Plant for the near future.

EDNA PLANT SUGGESTION—Charlie Thacker, Roving Department of Edna Plant, Reidsville, received a cash award from Cone Mills for his idea which was to bore a half inch hole in the ply board of the frame, thus cleaning the roving hangers without removing the board.

LONG SERVICE—Mrs. Fannie Davis Terrell, has been employed in the Spinning Department of Cone Mills' Tabardrey Plant since January, 1930. She will be among the guests of honor at the January 14th Service Award event at Haw River.

The Year 1956

Our mills and the entire textile industry are facing a most unusual year in 1956. Important factors will determine whether or not the industry fares well during the year. The foreign trade situation is of vital importance to every phase of the industry. Not only are the spinning and weaving mills involved but our customers who make up garments have much to be concerned about. Naturally, the policies of the merchants and the buying public will be affected.

No other major industry is as vulnerable as is the textile industry. Several proposals have been made which are designed to protect our textile industry and the jobs of thousands of people and their families.

It appears that the Secretary of Agriculture has the power under existing laws to protect the industry and by so doing protect the American farmer against wholesale importation of foreign goods which contain a much higher percentage of non-American cotton than cotton grown in the United States.

Congress is now in session and there will be determined attempts to pass quota legislation. If the proper relief and insurance against the large importation of goods made with cheap foreign labor cannot be accomplished otherwise, there seems to be no alternative but to secure proper legislation, which, of course, is subject to administrative review and veto.

The administration is charged with the responsibility of protecting the economics of this country and at the same time with the responsibility of trying to develop stable international relations so as to try to insure peace. We certainly hope that in trying to develop its international relations program the administration will not turn a deaf ear or blind its eyes to the dangers confronting the textile mills in the United States.

We who are in the textile industry, regardless of the outcome insofar as quotas or other restrictive measures to protect us against unfair foreign competition, must realize that the public is demanding better quality cloth than ever before and we will have to prepare to meet the demands of our customers. This is of extreme importance during the coming year, particularly since the foreign mills are placing very great emphasis on quality control.

Our competitors in this country are becoming more and more quality conscious, and if our mills do not measure up fully quality-wise to the best mills we will certainly drift behind the parade in successful merchandising.

Hand in hand with quality control goes efficiency and modern methods of operations. It is just as important to every worker in the plant that the mills measure up fully in all respects as it is to the management and the stockholders, as our costs, efficiency, and quality have to be as good or better if we are to fare as well or better than the other mills.

This, our New Year's message, presents a challenge to all of us to go all out in cooperative effort to attain the requisites of modern times for successfully operated textile mills.

Best Wishes for a Happy and Healthy New Year.

What You Can Do

Have you been wondering what you can do to checkmate accidents? Here are some safe driving suggestions, based on reports of fatal accidents from more than 20 states:

Check your speed—More than 3 out of 10 drivers in fatal accidents were violating speed laws. Speed law violation was almost twice as high on rural highways than in urban communities.

Check your drinking—In 24 out of 100 fatal accidents a driver or an adult pedestrian had been drinking.

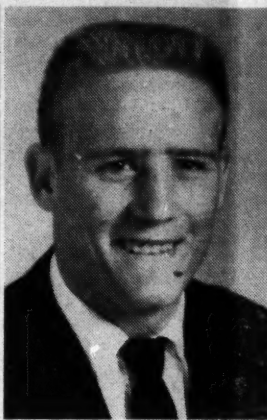

Check your car—Among vehicles involved in fatal accidents for which condition of vehicle was reported, about 6 per cent had unsafe conditions.

Check yourself—About 1 out of 14 drivers involved in fatal accidents had a physical condition that could have been a contributing factor in the accident. In the majority of these cases the condition was fatigue or sleepiness.

Check the weather—The weather was rainy, snowy or foggy in 1 out of 6 fatal accidents. This time of the year road and visibility conditions are at their worst.

Check the time—December is a dark-dreary month and night driving is considerably more hazardous than day driving. So, when possible, plan to travel during the hours of daylight. And double your care, reduce your speed at night.

Check your manners—Failure to yield the right of way, failure to keep to the right of the center line and other examples of poor manners on the highway ranked high among driver violations in fatal accidents. Take your turn—you'll probably get there just as fast.

HONORED—Paul Roberts, Boyden High's All-State fullback, and Cornell Johnson, High Point High's All-State fullback, were honored as the most outstanding players in the Western Class AAA Conference in High Point last week. Roberts and Johnson were voted the top players by coaches in the conference. Arnold Koontz, High Point amateur tennis player, presented the awards to Roberts and Johnson. Paul is the son of Mrs. Lizzie Roberts Hess of the third shift Weave Room, Salisbury Plant.

The telephone company in Tokyo recently announced that it was ready to begin acting on requests for telephone service and would start with applications dating back to 1906, it is reported in the American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook.

"In these modern times it seems that everything in the home is controlled by a flick of the switch, except the children."

A.C.M.I. Classes Open Jan. 9 At Clemson

CLEMSON, S. C.—The first of four 1956 classes in cotton fiber testing will open here January 9, according to John T. Wigington, director of Technical Service for the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute, which conducts the classes. Each course will last eight weeks. Opening dates for other classes during the year have been tentatively set for March 19, August 6 and October 22.

The classes are designed primarily for technicians in the cotton departments of mills, as well as for those from yarn and fabric testing laboratories of mills, and also for plant breeders and cotton merchants. Mr. Wigington pointed out that new technicians should have the training, and that many mills had found it profitable to send personnel back regularly for refresher courses. The training also has proved helpful for cotton classifiers.

Enrollment for each class is limited to five persons. Mrs. Helen G. Beasley, ACMI's fiber technologist, conducts the classes.

In the cotton fiber training program, trainees are taught to operate instruments for measuring fiber fineness, fiber length and length uniformity, fiber strength and fiber maturity. Two new instruments have been added for future instruction—the Speedar for measuring fiber fineness and the Stelometer for measuring fiber strength. Since the fiber testing training program was inaugurated in 1944, available to the entire cotton and cotton manufacturing industry, more than 200 persons have been trained in the classes conducted in the Textile Building on the Clemson College campus.

Mr. C. F. Morgan, father of Lester Morgan, is confined to his home due to a serious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Frye had as their guests for the Christmas holidays Miss Vera Frye; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Seamon and children, Bryant and Patsy, Miss Amy Frye; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Frye and son, Dale Bryant; and Frank Frye.

Miss Peggy Jo Sasser spent the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sasser. Peggy is a student at Pfeiffer College.

Mrs. Ida Crouse Everhart of Lexington spent the Christmas holidays with her daughter, Mrs. Lucille Lyster.

Miss Hazel McCormack and her mother of 181 Ryan Street had as their guests during Christmas Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Morris and sons, Wayne and Mike, from Jacksonville, Florida.

Mrs. Ida Mae Leonard and daughter, Judy, left Tuesday, December 27, for Germany to join her husband, Sgt. Fred Leonard. Mrs. Leonard is the former Ida Mae Stiller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stiller.

Mrs. C. B. Leonard of 109 North Caldwell Street spent the Christmas holidays in Washington visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jake Holt and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Butler had as their guests during Christmas Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dehr of Jacksonville, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Richards of Norfolk spent the holidays with Mrs. Richard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Wyrick and son, Benny Lee, of Newport News, spent 10 days during the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wyrick.

Earl Owens spent two weeks during the holidays visiting his mother, Mrs. W. C. Owens.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baxter Bolden celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Christmas Day at their home on the Mocksville Highway at Franklin.

During the afternoon open house was observed and a number of friends and relatives called to offer congratulations. Beautiful decorations for the occasion included a white Christmas tree with green and gold lights. The music room, where Mr. and Mrs. Bolden greeted their guests, featured the open Bible in a setting of candles and poinsettias.

After the guests were greeted they were invited to the dining room where the wedding cake was a centerpiece for the table, with wedding bells, gilded pine cones and spruce.

Mrs. Bolden is the former Mary Elizabeth Brown, daughter of Mrs. N. K. Brown who now lives at Fletcher, and the late Mr. Brown. They were married December 24, 1905 at Asheville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolden are parents of three children, Ralph E. Bolden of Burlington. Mrs. E. L. Reeves and Charles R. Bolden both of Salisbury. All the family was present for the anniversary celebration including four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Refreshments were served the guests by Mrs. Bob Reeves of Durham. Mrs. Lawrence Reeves of Lexington, Miss Billie Faye Johnson of Burlington, and Mrs. Joe Jarrell of Salisbury.

Before the party started the Reverends Albert Propst and Lewis Metts offered prayers and Charles Bolden sang "Bless This House."

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Zachary and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Rendleman, 3rd entertained December 26 at the Carolina Room of the Yadin Hotel at a dinner party to honor Mr. and Mrs. William Dennis who were married the same day at high noon. Mrs. Dennis is the former Mrs. Anne Council England.

Guests at the dinner were members of the wedding party, out-of-town relatives and the Rev. Emmett McLarty and Mrs. McLarty.

The Christmas motif was accentuated throughout the dining room and the table was centered with white carnations with much red and green. Places were marked with miniature snowmen and tiny canes.

Miss Sylvia Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buck L. Moore, was married on Christmas Day at Stalling Memorial Baptist Church to Thomas Murrell Frick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoy Preston Frick of Salisbury.

The Gold Star member banquet, an annual event of the Harold B. Jarrett American Legion Auxiliary, was held recently at the Legion home with five gold star members present.

They were Mrs. L. T. Eagle, Mr. W. H. Jarrett, Mrs. V. M. Reavis, Mrs. R. V. McCombs, and Mrs. Edith Pinos.

Mrs. Harry M. Uzzell, president, presided, and Ruth Kesler gave the welcome to the Gold Star members, presented them gifts, and also gave the invocation.

After the dinner the group sang Christmas carols and everyone exchanged gifts. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. R. B. Efrid and Mrs. B. D. Saleeby.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bost of the Charlotte highway were host and hostess last Saturday night at a family Christmas party.

It was the first time in eight years that the family had been together at Christmas. Gifts were exchanged and there was a sumptuous holiday dinner served buffet style.

Included in the group were Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Umstead and son, Danny, of Durham, Mrs. J. A. Gardner of Faith, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hartis, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Middleton and sons, Butch and Mike, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hartis and son Phil, Mrs. Sadie Funderburk, Mrs. J. C. Funderburk, all of Kannapolis; Kenneth Bost of Salisbury, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Freeman and children, Tony, Jean, Linda and Judy of Elkin who came to spend Sunday. Mrs. Freeman was Miss Ella Mae Bost before marriage.

Mrs. L. W. Edson entertained last Sunday afternoon at her home on Fairmont Avenue for Miss Sylvia Moore, who will be married Christmas Day to Tommy Frick.

The bride-elect wore navy tulle and added a corsage of white carnations, a gift of the hostess, who also gave her a blue nylon robe.

Guests assembled in the playroom of the Edson home which was decorated with Christmas greenery and red candles.

Mrs. B. L. Moore, mother of the bride, poured coffee.

TABLEAU—Members of Sixteenth Street Baptist Church presented a Christmas Pageant with living characters and animals on the lawn of their Church each night from 7:00 to 10:00 before Christmas. Ernest G. Holt, educational director directed the pageant with the help of six committees. George Farrington was the Chairman of the building construction, Jimmy Phillips acted as electrician, and Charles Staley enlisted the 140 members who served as characters. Harry Moore and Willard Lawson secured the live animals and Robert Hill, the choir director, directed the music and scripture readings. Doris Bennett and Frances Caviness prepared the costumes that were used each night. Approximately 160 people helped present the program. Two casts of 10 people each alternated each thirty minutes during the three hour presentation. Many hundreds of people viewed the pageant each night. Rev. William L. Bennett is pastor of Sixteenth St. Baptist Church.

Eno Plant News

by Edna S. Ellis

Benjamin F. Allison retired from Eno Plant, Hillsboro, on November 30, 1955.

Mr. Allison began his textile career at an early age in what was the Granite Manufacturing Company at Haw River. He was born in Alamance County, the son of Marion and Mary Allison.

He came to Eno in February of 1907 as a fixer. In June 1911 he was married to Sallie Roach. They have four sons, Marion, Leslie ("Steve"), Bernard and Owen.

When asked to relate some of the changes he had seen take place during his 48 years as supervisor at Eno, he said that "It would make a very big book to record them in."

Some of the outstanding ones were: change from steam power to electric, twelve hour work day to eight hour, modern machinery installations that enable management to expand its facilities and employ more people, the hygienic work conditions which are vastly improved, modern rest rooms, drinking fountains, better relationship between employee and supervisor, health insurance and the establishment of minimum pay scales.

Asked about his plans for his retirement, Mr. Allison replied that his "long association with such good people who manage and work at Eno will keep him occupied some time just remembering them."

Mr. Allison, long a popular foreman in the Spinning Department, is wished all the pleasure and happiness in the world by his fellow foremen and employees.
